

Technical Sales Engineer

Functional Products Inc., a leading formulator of additives for mineral and vegetable based lubricants is expanding our sales force. We seek a qualified sales engineer to expand our sales force and contribute in the following areas:

- Distributor Support and Training
- Corporate Sales – Fortune 2000 Accounts
- International Sales and Support of our Distributor Network

The position requires a college degree in science, preferably chemistry and a minimum of 5 years sales experience. Relocation is not necessary.

Functional Products Inc is an ISO 9001:2000 certified formulator and blender of lubricant additives selling domestically and internationally. Our strengths are customer support, strong scientific and formulary know-how, and a 20 year history of growing, profitable operations. Our products include additives for industrial lubricants, biobased lubricants, and food grade lubricants. Specific areas of growth include biobased products, food grade products, and international sales.

If you are a self starter with strong interpersonal skills and a history of successful selling to technical personnel, please send your resume to the attention of either to:

David DeVore
ddevore@functionalproducts.com or William Wahl wwahl@functionalproducts.com

www.functionalproducts.com